Vinesh Phogat one match away from medal

PARIS: Indian wrestler Vinesh Phogat is just one match away from securing a guaranteed medal at the Paris 2024 Olympics. Phogat's journey to the semi-finals in the women's 50kg freestyle category has been nothing short of thrilling, marked by a series of hard-fought victories.

In a closely contested quarterfinal, Phogat emerged victorious against Ukraine's Oksana Livach with a score of 7-5. Phogat, competing in her third Olympic Games, took an early 2-0 lead in the first period. Despite a strong comeback attempt by Livach in the second period, Phogat held her ground and secured the win, moving her one step closer to an Olympic podium.

The quarterfinal victory followed an earlier sensational match where Phogat orchestrated a dramatic comeback to defeat Tokyo 2020 gold medalist Yui Susaki of Japan in the round of 16. Trail-ing 1-0 after the first period, Phogat demonstrated extraordinary resilience and tactical acumen, outscoring Susaki 3-2 in the second period to clinch her place in the quarterfinals.

Embezzlement case

Police custody of Kale extended

NASHIK: The local court here has extended the custody of Arun Kale, the former secretary of the Nashik Agriculture Produce Market Committee (APMC), who is implicated in a Rs. 90 lakh embezzlement case.

When produced in court, Kale was initially remanded to police custody until Monday, August 5. His custody has now been extended for an additional three days, until Wednesday, August 7.

During the investigation, Kale has been uncooperative, failing to assist the police and appear in court, or submit requested documents. Consequently, he was taken into custody by police on court orders for repeatedly disregarding judicial directives.
